

SLO Reporting Form

Course: Soc 1A: Introduction to Sociology – Spring 08

Date: August 19th, 2008

Program Outcome	Outcome	Assessment/ Measurement	Result	Use of Results
	Identify, understand, and apply basic concepts of sociology	Midterm exam analytic essays requiring the application of sociological concepts	Spring 08 Average Score/Grade Sec 4766: 124/150 points – 83% (B) Sec4767: 131/150 points – 87% (B+)	Met proposed outcome satisfactorily, but I would like to see improvement in this area. I plan to provide a grading rubric before the exam and to integrate more in-class activities to help students understand and apply concepts.
	Identify and analyze contemporary social issues in American society	8 Sociological Tools requiring the analysis of current events with sociological concepts	Spring 08 Average Score/Grade Sec 4766: 138/180 points – 76% (C) Sec4767: 117/180 – 64% (D)	Overall students did not meet this outcome satisfactorily. Students are entering this class with limited research skills and are under-prepared for this project. In future semesters I will assign an analytical research paper that allows them to develop and build upon their preexisting research skills.

	Employ a sociological imagination in understanding everyday life	Answer homework questions applying sociological imagination to their day to day life	Spring 08 Average Score/Grade Sec 4766: 24/25 points – 96% (A) Sec4767: 23/25 points – 96% (A)	Met proposed outcome no suggested modifications. Students appear to enjoy and perform well at applying sociological insight into their own lives.
